Shamantrance (2017)

First album is widely celebrated.

Ancient Indian mantras marry wild, tribal beats (didgeridoo, drums) for the first time. A new musical genre is born.

*“Kali's wild howling is our energetical meal.
Holy Mantras are our wings.
Didgeridoo and rocking drums are our fuel.
Meditation is our root.”*

entranced (2019)

The Indian Goddess Lakshmi comes as a disco-diva. Shiva and Kali open the doors into the shamanic trance, tribal beats and wild pogo punk! Welcome back at the intoxicating ecstatic journey! !

Mantra Tribe have stepped up their game: the new album sparkles with a variety of playfully woven elements, presenting the band's next level achievement.

Mantra Tribe ↔ musicians

The Tribe is fuelled by ...

Together, FlorAmor (voice, harmonium, shaman drum) and Jasmin Aynacioglu (voice, harmonium, small percussion) present the complementing female vocals which celebrate the beauty of mantras and elevate the wildness of tribal beats, surrendering to the flow of Shakti.

Multi-instrumentalist and band producer Danilo Ananda Steinert (guitar, drums, voice and more) is the musical brain. He draws from 30 years of powerful presence in the yoga and spiritual world music scene, supporting Mantra Tribe with his wide range of skills and abilities.

Marc Miethe is widely recognized as one of the most accomplished Didgeridoo-Gurus in Germany since 1992. His virtuoso earth-rooting bass resonates into the profound depths of trance. A wind-born wunderwerk, vibrating deeply into the soul!
